Arrival by train

Get off the train at Duisburg main station (Duisburg Hbf.). Since the entrance to the subways is not in the main hall of the station, exit the track via an escalator at the north end. You should then see the entrance to the subway station. Take the 901 line towards Zoo/Universität or Mülheim. The next stop is located at street level already. Get off the train at the third stop, Zoo/Universität. At this point, you are on Mülheimer Straße. Shortly before, the train passed Lotharstraße. At the corner of Mülheimer Str./Lotharstr. are some round buildings, the "cookie jars".

Arrival by car

Arriving from the north/south via the A3 freeway:

At the Duisburg-Kaiserberg intersection (DU-Kaiserberg), first stay on the freeway in the direction of Essen and then leave the intersection at the DU-Kaiserberg exit.

Arriving from the east/west via the A40 freeway (old A2/A430):

At the Duisburg-Kaiserberg freeway intersection (DU-Kaiserberg), take the "DU-Kaiserberg" exit. At the end of the exit turn left at the traffic light and follow the sign "Zoo/Universität". At the intersection, do not drive in the direction of Duisburg-Zentrum but keep going straight ahead along Carl-Benz Str. This leads, after a motorway bridge, automatically to the "Zoo/Universität". After passing a highway bridge, this automatically leads to the main parking lot of the Duisburg campus.

Arrival by plane

The nearest airport is Düsseldorf. The cab ride from there to the Duisburg campus costs approximately 40 euros. To arrive by public transportation, take the shuttle bus to the airport train station; the S-Bahn station between Terminals A and C is not recommended. The required fare level of the ticket is "B" and applies to trains of the types "S" (S-Bahn), "RE" (Regional Express) and "SE" (Stadt-Express), with the last two being faster. Take one of these trains with a stop at Duisburg Hbf. Depending on the train, the journey will take between 15 and 30 min. From Duisburg Hbf. follow the descriptions under point Arrival by train.
